Only use this application form if you are in immigration detention.
If you are NOT in immigration detention, you must make your application on form M1.

Who can apply for review?

The Migration Review Tribunal (the Tribunal) reviews certain decisions made by the Department of Immigration and Citizenship (DIAC). Not all decisions made by DIAC can be reviewed by the Tribunal. Where a decision can be reviewed, only certain persons can apply for review of that decision.

If TIS are in immigration detention, you may apply for review of a decision:

- to refuse you a visa, provided the visa could be granted in Australia;
- to cancel your visa, except where your visa was cancelled automatically;
- not to revoke the cancellation of your visa; or
- relating to lodging a security for compliance with bridging visa conditions (a security decision).

The letter providing notification of DIAC's decision will state whether the decision can be reviewed and who may apply for review of that decision.

How to apply for review

A person in immigration detention can apply for review by completing this form (M2) and either lodging it with the Tribunal or giving it to a DIAC officer at a detention centre or at an office occupied by a DIAC officer at an airport, along with the application fee (if applicable). The Tribunal's contact details are listed below.

When must I apply for review?

The Tribunal must receive your application within the prescribed time limit. Once you decide to apply for review, you must lodge your application without delay.

If the decision was handed to you by a DIAC officer or sent by facsimile, and you are in immigration detention, you must apply within the following time limits:

- 2 WORKING DAYS (from receipt) for the review of:
 - a refusal to grant a bridging visa, and any related decision to require a security;
 - a cancellation of a bridging visa.

- 7 WORKING DAYS (from receipt) for the review of:
 - a refusal to grant a visa other than a bridging visa;
 - a cancellation of a visa other than a bridging visa;
 - a decision not to revoke the cancellation of a visa.

If the decision was sent by post within Australia, add 7 WORKING DAYS from the date of the notification letter before applying the time limits outlined above. Please note: 'working days' exclude weekends and public holidays.

Fees

No fee is payable for an application for review of a bridging visa decision (including any related decision to require a security) that resulted in a person being placed in immigration detention. A $1540 fee is payable for an application for review of any other decision.

Payment can be made by cash, cheque, money order, EFTPOS, Visa or Mastercard. Cheques should be crossed and made payable to the "Migration Review Tribunal". Payment is not considered to have been made if your cheque is dishonoured or your credit card payment is not approved.

The Tribunal will refund $770 of your application fee if a favourable decision is made on your case. If the Tribunal decides that your application is invalid, you will be refunded the entire fee paid. If you withdraw your application, the Tribunal can only refund your application fee in very limited circumstances.

The fee may be reduced to $770 (or $770 refunded if the full fee has been paid) if the Registrar or an authorised Tribunal officer is satisfied that payment of the fee has caused, or is likely to cause, severe financial hardship to the review applicant. Form 'M11: Request for Fee Waiver/Reduction' is available from any Tribunal registry or from the Tribunal's website.

Where a fee is payable either:

- the $1540 application fee should be paid in full; or
- $770 of the application fee should be paid and a fee reduction application lodged with the Tribunal before the deadline for lodging the application for review. Supporting documentary evidence is required for all fee reduction applications.

Combined applications for review

In some visa refusal cases, separate applications for review may be combined (for example, where the visa applicants are members of a family unit or where an application to review a decision to require a security is combined with a related application to refuse to grant a visa). Where applications are combined, only one application fee is payable and only one application form should be used. Please note that applications for review of decisions to refuse two or more bridging visas cannot be combined; and that applications for review of decisions to cancel two or more visas cannot be combined. Please contact the Tribunal if you need more information about combining applications.

What information should I give with my application?

You must complete all the details requested on this form. If you do not have enough space for all of your information on the application form, you can write the information separately and attach it to your application. You must complete this form in English. If you cannot do this, you should use an interpreter.

You may provide evidence and submissions with your application. You may also provide evidence and submissions after your application is lodged. All documents that you provide that are not in English should be translated into English by a qualified translator. You should provide both the documents and the translations.

Note: If you are applying for review of a bridging visa and associated security decision, you may be asked after your application is received to provide further evidence, such as bank statements, tax returns etc, to support your application for review of the security decision. As the Tribunal must review bridging visa decisions within strict time limits, you may wish to start making arrangements to obtain some of these documents.

Do I need a representative?

You may authorise a person to represent you and act on your behalf in relation to your application. This person is known as your representative. It is not necessary to nominate a representative – you may choose to deal with the Tribunal directly. If you nominate a representative, he or she can communicate with the Tribunal on your behalf, forward written submissions and written evidence to the Tribunal, request access to documents held by the Tribunal in relation to your application, and accompany you to any meeting or hearing arranged by the Tribunal. You must inform the Tribunal immediately, in writing, if you change your representative, cancel your representative's authority to act on your behalf, or if your representative's contact details change.

Under the Migration Act 1958 (the Act), only the following persons can provide you with 'immigration assistance':

- a registered migration agent;
- your spouse, child, parent, brother or sister;
- a nominator or sponsor of the visa applicant;
- parliamentarians;
- a member of a diplomatic mission, consular post or office of an international organisation; and
- an official (as defined in Part 3 of the Act) in the course of his or her duties.

A person provides 'immigration assistance' when they use their knowledge or experience in migration procedure to assist in preparing, advising or representing a visa applicant, a sponsor or nominator, or a 'cancellation review applicant' (a person whose visa has been cancelled).

The factsheet 'MR2: Immigration Assistance', which is available from any Tribunal Registry or from the Tribunal's website, can provide you with further information about registered migration agents. You may also contact the Migration Agents Registration Authority (ph: 02 9299 5446 / www.themara.com.au).

Where will correspondence be sent?

You may choose to have all correspondence sent to yourself or you may nominate a person known as an authorised recipient to receive correspondence on your behalf in connection with the review.

If you nominate an authorised recipient the Tribunal will send all correspondence to your authorised recipient. The Tribunal only sends copies of correspondence to applicants who have nominated an authorised recipient where the applicant is in immigration detention.

If you have a representative and you do not nominate your representative as your authorised recipient, your representative will not receive any correspondence from the Tribunal.

If you do not nominate an authorised recipient all correspondence on your case will be sent to you.

You must advise the Tribunal of any change in your contact details (for example, if you are removed from immigration detention) or of any change in the contact details of your authorised recipient. If you instruct the Tribunal to send correspondence to you and for some reason you are unable to collect your mail, you should arrange for someone to check your mail or you should nominate an authorised recipient to receive correspondence on your behalf. If the Tribunal does not receive a response to important correspondence, your case may be decided without further notice. You should also advise DIAC of any change in your address.

How will the information provided to the Tribunal be used?

The information provided to the Tribunal will be used to assess your review application under the Act. Any information provided to the Tribunal during the review process by you or by other parties may be provided to other participants in proceedings, to other individuals or organisations when seeking expert opinion or assessment, and may become public during Tribunal proceedings or when a Tribunal decision is published. In certain circumstances the Tribunal may also provide information about your application to other government and non-government individuals or organisations. These include but are not limited to DIAC, the Migration Agents Registration Authority, courts and tribunals, and law enforcement agencies.

How do I lodge my application?

If you are at a detention centre, you can lodge your application by giving the completed application form and any applicable fee to a DIAC officer at the detention centre at least one working day before the expiry of your application time limit.

If you are in detention at an airport, you can lodge your application by giving the completed application form and any applicable fee to a DIAC officer at an airport immigration office at least one working day before the expiry of your application time limit.

Applications can be lodged in person by someone acting on your behalf at the New South Wales or Victorian registries of the Migration Review Tribunal, or at the Queensland, South Australian or Western Australian registries of the Administrative Appeals Tribunal. Applications can be lodged between 8.30am and 5.00pm in all locations.

Applicants in NSW, Qld, ACT or NT can post or fax their applications to the New South Wales registry of the Migration Review Tribunal. Applicants in Vic, SA, WA or Tas can post or fax their applications to the Victorian registry of the Migration Review Tribunal.
